Locally Bob is Vice-President of Leicestershire Scouts, President of Charnwood Athletics and an Honorary Canon Professor of Leicester Cathedral.

PROFESSOR ALAN DODSON, BSc (Hons), PhD, DSc

Alan was educated at Buckhurst Hill Grammar School, Essex, following which he read Civil Engineering at The University of Nottingham. He continued his studies there gaining a PhD in Engineering Surveying, and after a Research Fellowship joined the academic staff as a Lecturer in Civil Engineering. A long academic career saw him promoted to Head of the School of Civil Engineering, Dean of Engineering and finally Pro-Vice-Chancellor with responsibility for Estates, Infrastructure, Environment and Information Services.

During his academic career, as well as teaching a range of undergraduate and postgraduate civil engineering related topics, Alan's research interest was in the field of Engineering Surveying and Geodesy, with a particular interest in the engineering and environmental applications of satellite positioning systems.

Professionally Alan, until his retirement, was a Fellow of The Institution of Civil Engineers, The Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors, The Royal Institution of Navigation and the Institution of Civil Engineering Surveyors. He was a Fellow of the International Association of Geodesy (IAG), was for many years the UK Delegate to the IAG and served for 4 years on its Executive. He also served on the Council of The Royal Astronomical Society and for a while as its Vice President (Geophysics). He was awarded a Higher Doctorate (DSc) by the University of Nottingham for his lifetime research work in Engineering Geodesy.

Whilst at School and University Alan was a keen cricket and badminton player, and Bridge player. He still holds the University's staff cricket team bowling record of 9-26 against the University of Sheffield staff team!

Alan is married to Heather, who also worked for many years at The University of Nottingham in Information Services, and they have a son, Edward, who attended Loughborough Grammar School and is currently studying for a DPhil at Oxford University.

PROFESSOR JOHN FEATHER, MA, PhD, FRSA

John Feather has been a Governor of LES for 15 years. He was educated at Heath Grammar School, Halifax, and The Queen's College Oxford where he read English. After working in a publishing business and in librarianship, he came to Loughborough University in 1977, becoming a Professor in 1987. He was subsequently Dean of the Faculty, Dean of the Graduate School and Pro-Vice Chancellor. He is now an Emeritus Professor.

John became deeply involved in international work for the University (especially in student recruitment from south-east Asia and China), for the British Council (in Pakistan, southern (now South) Sudan, Thailand, Malaysia and China), and for UNESCO. He has been involved with many organisations including the Arts and Humanities Research Council, English Heritage, DCMS, the Arts Council, the British Council and the British Library.

John has lived in Quorn for more than 30 years. He is a dedicated and vocal (some have said too vocal!) supporter of Leicester Tigers. His cultural interests include contemporary fiction, music, theatre and opera, interests which he shares with Sarah, his wife. He is a cook whose food is alleged to be edible, a lover of good red wine and, perhaps not surprisingly in those circumstances, a Francophile.

MR PETER JACKSON, FIMI

Peter is an Old Boy of Loughborough Grammar School. He has spent most of his career as an industrialist in Loughborough and consequently has a thorough understanding of the area's demographic and commercial structure.

His specialty is in vehicle bodywork and transport systems. He was a pioneer of the one-piece, vacuum pressed insulated panel which revolutionized refrigerated truck bodies in the 1980's. He developed the environmentally friendly Eistechnik refrigeration systems winning the Food and Drink iNet award in 2009 and the Green Organisation's Silver Award for the UK in 2010. He was appointed Managing Director of L E Jackson (Coachworks) in 1981 and became Chairman in 1988.

He is a past President of Loughborough Junior Chamber of Commerce and has served on the National Manufacturers' Council for Great Britain. He is a former Non-Executive Director of the Loughborough Building Society and was made a member of the All Party Parliamentary Renewable Transport Fuels Group in the House of Commons

Peter is an accomplished fly fisherman, an enthusiastic clay shot and maintains his life-long critical acclaim of Leicester City F.C. He is married to Jackie with two sons, both of whom attended LGS.

PROFESSOR JULIAN KETLEY, BSc (Hons), PhD (Bham), CBiol, MSB

Julian is a Professor of Bacterial Genetics at the University of Leicester. He completed a BSc in Biological Sciences and then a PhD at Birmingham University. Julian then left these shores to work at the University of Maryland at Baltimore in the Centre for Vaccine Development, constructing (and testing!) human vaccines for cholera. Four years later he returned to the UK with a Royal Society University Fellowship and has remained in the Department of Genetics at Leicester ever since. His research has focussed mainly on infectious disease, particularly those pathogens that infect the intestine (and have consequences that are best not discussed here!). Julian has just completed seven years as Head of Department.

In addition to his various academic roles at the University, he has led IT projects at both University and College level, and continues to work externally with various government research funding agencies on project and institutional grant awards and research strategy groups.

Born in Cheshire, Julian now lives locally with his wife, Diane, and daughter, Adele, who is at LHS. He was a governor and Chair of Governors at his local village primary school.

SISTER CELINE LEYDON

After 3 years as a pupil at the Our Lady's Convent School I joined the Sisters of Providence Order. I trained as a Montessori Teacher at Belsize Park in London. In 1969 I joined the staff at Our Lady's Convent School. I spent 37 years at the School and 20 of those as Head of the Primary Department. Now retired, I am at present engaged as Administrator at Rosmini House. As well as teaching I spent 17 years in charge of the Boarding Department at Our Lady's Convent School.

I continue to have the real interests of the School as a whole at heart and wish to work for its overall good. Interests include playing the piano and sewing.

MRS ROWENA LIMB, OBE, MA (Cantab)

Rowena is a Senior Civil Servant, currently the Area Director for Government's Cities and Local Growth Unit in the East Midlands & South East Midlands.

Rowena joined the Civil Service from University, beginning in an inner city benefit office and then holding various posts with Department for Education's forerunners both regionally and nationally including working on Jobseekers Allowance legislation, developing a National Qualification for Head Teachers and regionalisation of the European Social Fund. She has also spent some time on secondment to the Royal National Institute for the Blind's vocational college.

She was brought up initially in the Netherlands but returned to the UK for secondary education at LHS, before reading Geography at Cambridge; where she was chair of Student Community Action – the university's volunteering service. A keen hockey player at school and university she now supports her daughter (ex LHS) and son (LGS) in their hockey ambitions.

MRS LOUISE WEBB

Louise is a commercially astute and highly collaborative business leader with a real passion for nurturing and developing talent and improving the success of organisations through its people. A graduate of Bath University where she gained a BSc (Hons) in Economics, Louise enjoyed a long and successful international career at Avon Products Plc. During her time at Avon she held a number of senior leadership positions in Human Resources, most latterly as Vice President HR for Europe, Middle East, Africa and Asia. Subsequently she was founding partner of a boutique strategic HR consultancy before relocating back to Leicestershire with her young family.

Louise is married to husband Richard and has 2 children Ethan and Elise who attend Fairfield Prep school. Her favourite way to enjoy some 'me time' is to catch up with friends near and far, do some Yoga, or walk around Bradgate park. Having recently moved house, Louise's next challenge is to master the art of gardening!
